Now With F.M.L.

The Lyndon Johnson era spawned two journalists in major newspapers or magazines: Another Johnson (no kin) who went from KTBC-TV, Austin, to be recently named publisher of the Dallas Times-Herald, and Bill Moyers, once publisher of New York's Newsday and now a columnist for Newsweek.

Moyers in a current issue of Newsweek writes about the Truman decision to drop the "bomb" on Hiroshima. He cites a young historian who says it was not a major decision and was a device to convince Russia we had military clout of a new and different order. And the writer says dropping the bomb was unnecessary.

Moyers says he interviewed Harry Truman in Independence, Mo., in Truman's retirement years, and the former president said it was not a decision you looked back upon once it went down.

Moyers was apparently trying to show that Harry Truman was no different in his simplistic ability to make big decisions: Like other major political leaders, he would use human life to make a point.

What we find difficult to understand is what difference did it make whether or not the decision "had" to be made or that HST used the means, however devastating to Japanese in two cities, to outline our strengths against an emerging communist monolith. The Japanese capitulated, as they say, "forthwith."

Harry Truman in fact brought Winston Churchill to Westminster College in Fulton, Mo., to make a speech in 1946 which became known as the "Iron Curtain" speech. Harry had already dropped the bomb. But long before he dropped it, he knew as well as Roosevelt and Churchill what a crunch we faced with Stalin after World War II and soon learned how weak Chang was in post-war China.

There's a plaque on the auditorium where Churchill made that speech. And there's a gymnasium beneath where athletes dressed in lockers. I've been there.

It is almost impossible to understand, but there are times when the loss of some human life is better than the ultimate loss of other human life, because numbers advance geo-metrically with greater population.

The size of the HST decision to drop the "bomb" is not in loss of life or the line he drew with justification to save X thousand of American lives, which he did. It was not even that HST was trying to prove how big he was in the decision business. He knew Russia might have sent troops into Japan.

The size of the decision is that he also knew the Americans used a horrendous weapon twice and hoped thereafter to contain its use by limiting testing, imposing underground controls, and finally peaceful use of the powerful hydrogen atoms.

If we had not developed it first, the Russians would have quite likely used it on a limited scale in Cuba, 1962. The Germans were only months away from a "bomb" which Hitler would have turned on U. S. cities during World War II. That's why we started the Manhattan Project in the early 1940s.

Whether Truman leaped up and down at the news of the bomb's being dropped, as Moyers notes, and whether HST tried to dismiss the decision as "just one of those decisions" is immaterial.

Harry summarily ended the war. He set the stage, however large or unnecessary this decision, for the Truman Doctrine in Greece and Turkey, the Marshall Plan, which failed in a China soon dominated by communists, and the Marshall Plan in Europe, which salvaged Western culture from Stalin ambitions advanced by the Red Army to the middle of Berlin.

If the U. S. had not demonstrated its horrendous military advantage prior to the late 1940s and early 1950s, the Red Army would have been used instead of guerilla intervention in Greece and Korea, to name two.

The human condition consumes us all; presidents, dictators, prime ministers and everybody else. But sometime, those we elect or those who represent, must decide among the least bad of alternatives, not the best.

The worst possible thing, the worst of afflictions afflicting us today, is that we are getting practically no decisions at all.

Kelley Piano Concert Scheduled April 1

Danny Kelley, outstanding Cameron pianist, will play a concert at 8 p.m. April 1 at the National Guard Armory for the neighborhood park benefit.

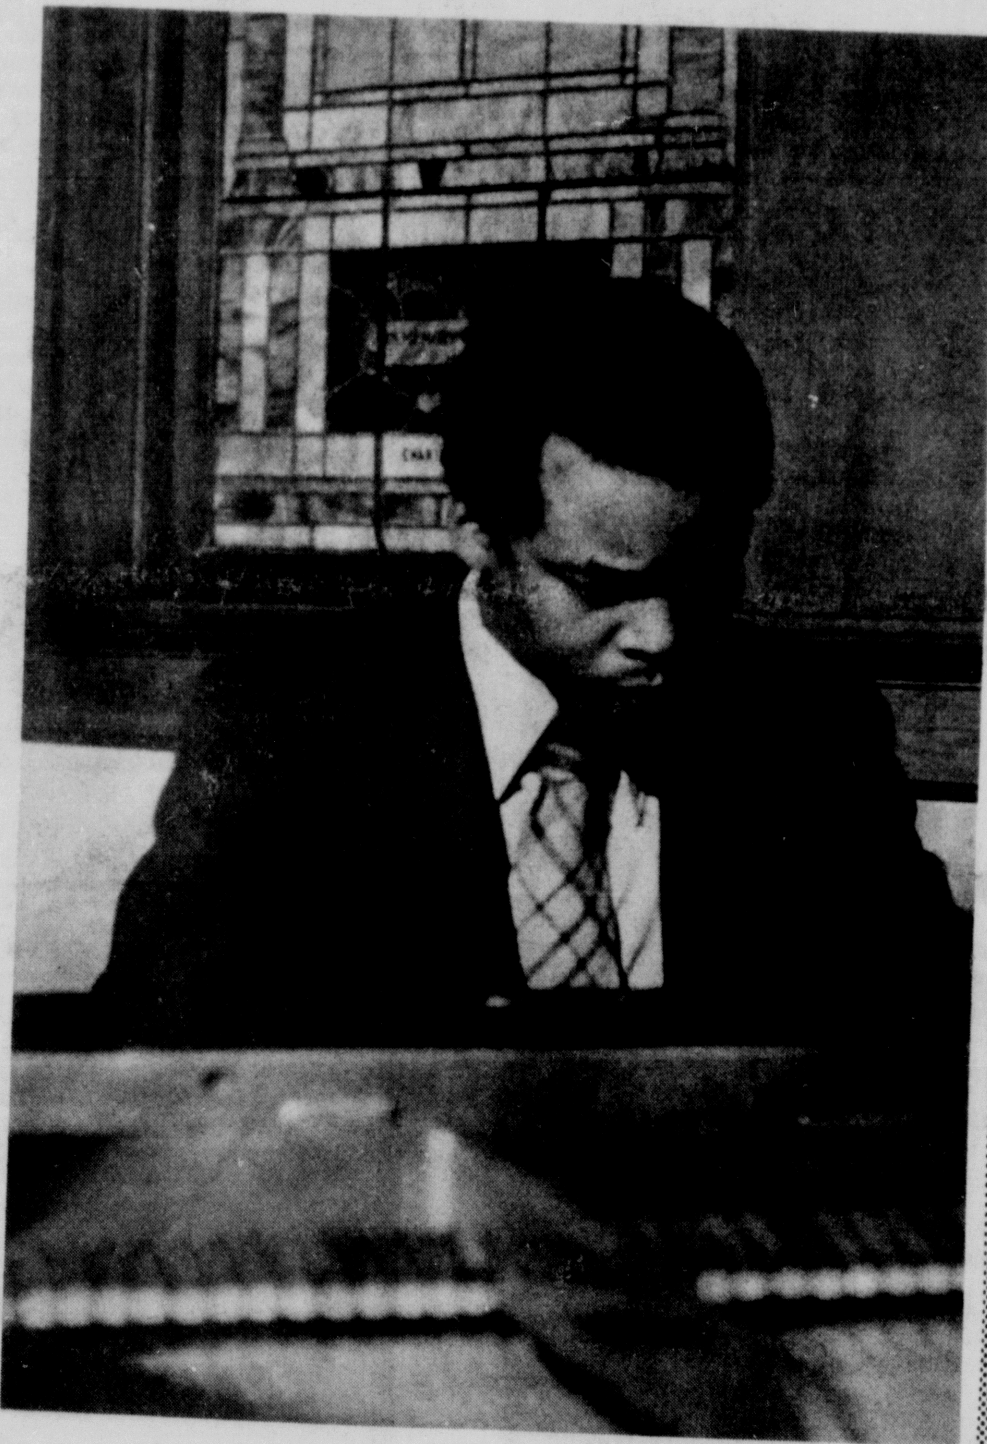

Kelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Kelley of Cameron, is now working on his doctorate in music at Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, Md. He is a pupil of internationally known artist and conductor, Leon Fleisher.

While a student at Prairie View A&M, he was recipient of an arts and sciences scholarship to study with the University of Houston School of Music's artist-in-residence Albert Hirsh. He was a pupil of Dean Boal and Walter Hautzig at Peabody Conservatory while obtaining his masters degree.

He recently ended a four-year stay in the Army and has returned to Peabody to work on his doctorate. His wife, the former Janice M. Criner of Athens, is also a graduate of Prairie View and is presently a first year medical student at the University of Maryland Medical School in Baltimore.

Tickets to the concert are $3.50 for reserve and $3 at the door. A morning and afternoon concert is planned for junior high and senior high students. Proceeds will go to purchase playground equipment for the newly proposed park which will be located next to O. J. Thomas School.

Kelley's program includes "Piano Pieces, Op. 118" by Brahms, "Sonata in F Major, K. 533" by Mozart, "Estampes" by Debussy, and "Sonata in B Minor" by Chopin.

City Election Set Tuesday

Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. at City Hall Tuesday for the election of three city councilmen, with three candidates for one of the places.

James Kahler, Mrs. Lilly Hunter, and Gene Lumpkin are all seeking election to Place 3, now held by Lumpkin who was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Starrett Hickman when Hickman resigned.

Kahler is a local businessman, owner of Kahler Co., a wholesale nursery operation. Lumpkin is a retired businessman. Mrs. Hunter is a housewife who served as housekeeper at the Veterans Administration Center in Temple and has been a resident of Cameron for 40 years.

Other candidates include Mrs. Jan Luecke, who is running unopposed for Place 2 and Lawrence Zoltz, incumbent councilman of Place 1, who also is unopposed.

The city council will meet at 7 p.m. after the polls close to canvass the election and conduct regular business.

Former Bank Officials Sentenced To Prison

Four former officials and employees of First State Bank in Hearne were sentenced in the US District Court of Waco March 19 and two others charged appeared in Federal District Court on Friday for arraignment.

Judge Jack Roberts sentenced Thomas B. Mayfield, 34, and Thomas Brashear, 51, to two years each in a federal penitentiary with both to spend one year on supervised probation. On Friday Judge Roberts deleted the probationary period from their sentences but left the two years to be served in prison.

Two former bank secretaries, Mrs. Gloria Ann Collie, 30, of Houston and Mrs. Dorothy Lockhart, 28, of Hearne were given three one-year consecutive sentences by Judge Roberts, that were suspended, for making false entries in bank books.

The judge placed Mrs. Collie and Mrs. Lockhart on supervised probation for three years and fined them $500 on each count. They entered guilty pleas on Feb. 20 contending they were following instructions of their employers.

The indictments returned against Mayfield, Brashear, the two secretaries, Gerald H. Kuehler and Adrian A. Richter, charged that stockholders of First State Bank of Hearne lost approximately $1.3 million through scores of "arbitrary and false" accounting entries involving interest and other money. The indictments said the entries were made between July 1971 and February 1974.

Mayfield entered a plea of guilty

Feb. 20 to one count (the eighth) of a 12-count indictment that charged him with applying bank funds to his own use. The other counts were dismissed.

Brashear entered a plea of guilty Feb. 20 to one count (the eighth) to a 10-count indictment charging him with converting interest on a note to his own use instead of to the bank funds. The other counts were dismissed.

Mayfield is a former stockholder and director of the bank and Brashear was a former president of the bank.

Kuehler, 32, and Richter, 34, both of Hearne, former president and vice-president of the bank were arraigned on Friday in Austin. They both earlier entered pleas of not guilty to charges filed in the indictments against them in the Austin court and were released on bond.

Judge Roberts released Mayfield and Brashear under $5,000 bond each and gave them until April 21 to take care of their personal affairs before reporting to the US Marshal in Waco for transportation to the penitentiary.

CDA Funds Request Denied

Rockdale's application for federal Community Development funds has been rejected, according to city manager Ernie Moore, who broke the news at the last city council meeting.

Primary reasons, he said, were that 380 cities applied and only 35 were funded.

Milam-Areans Officers Foil Robbery

HEARNE

Law officers fired shotgun and pistol blasts at a fleeing truck last Saturday at 2 a.m. as they stopped a burglary at General American Transportation Corp. in Hearne. Deputy Sheriff James Kellum fired two shotgun blasts into the windshield as the driver swerved the truck in an apparent effort to run over him and a Hearne police officer shot the left front tire and the outside tire at the rear as the truck drove by the officers.

Voters To Meet Candidates

ROCKDALE

Rockdale voters will have opportunity to meet the candidates for city council in a "Meet the Candidates" program sponsored by the local Jaycees here Monday night. Purpose of the meeting is to create a dialogue between council candidates and interested citizens. All candidates were given a suggested topic outline prior to the meeting so they could more easily prepare their views about the office they seek.

City Seeks Crime Funds

WACO

While Waco rates as the Crime Center of Texas, the city police and county officers are doing something about it to reduce this reputation. Applications are being made to the Criminal Justice Council for funds needed to combat law violations. Latest request was approved for HOTCOG for funds with which to specialize on sex crimes. Meanwhile another rape was reported to Waco police of a 62 year old woman.

Landowners Want Meeting

GATESVILLE

Landowners in the southwestern Coryell County area affected by the proposed 59,000 acres acquisition of land for the expansion of Fort Hood reservation want to talk with Fort Hood and army representatives but they want the meeting to take place in Gatesville at a date and hour convenient to them. That was made plain at a meeting of "Our Land, Our Lives" coalition formed to resist the expansion.

New Sheriff Appointed

LAMPASAS

M. R. Simmons, police chief in Lampasas for the past nine years, was named Sheriff of Lampasas County following an executive session of the county commissioners. Simmons, 59, was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Luther B. Person who died suddenly. The new sheriff was sworn in Wednesday morning.

License Deadline Near

"Are you plated or belated?"

That's the question motorists may be facing after midnight, April 1, deadline for motor vehicle registration in Texas. After that time, law enforcement agencies have been instructed to stop motorists not displaying the 1975 plates to remind them of their licensing responsibilities.

Since February 1, county tax offices and selected substations throughout the state have been conducting registration business as usual. Early reports indicate the annual procedure, required of the state's 9.2 million motor vehicle owners, is running smoothly. However, many registrants traditionally wait until the "last minute" to react, resulting in longer lines and necessary delays.

According to a Highway Department spokesman, public response to the new five-year license plate, being issued for the first time in Texas, has been good. In fact, motorists have shown an uncommon interest in the "label" their motor vehicle will wear through 1979.

In lieu of annual replacement, motorists will be issued an adhesive-type sticker beginning in 1976, that will update their plate for another year of driving. The sticker will be placed in the debossed upper left corner of the plate. The following year, the tag will be stuck in the upper right corner to cover the debossed "75," and alternated for the ensuing years. Once in place, the tags cannot be easily removed without deterioration, a part of the plan to discourage vandalism or theft.

County tax offices will continue to issue annual plates to certain classes of motor vehicles. These include radio operators, dealers, government officials, and those passenger cars displaying "personalized" plates.

Final Results Show

United Fund Tops Goal

Cameron raised 162.6 percent of its 1974-75 United Fund goal and 235.1 percent of its 1973-74 goal, according to final results published by Texas United Way. These were the highest in the state.

Per capita giving in Cameron has been raised to $2.48, according to Monroe Fuchs, United Fund chairman.

The annual meeting of the Cameron United Fund membership will be held on Monday, April 28 at the Cameron Chamber of Commerce office.

Schiller To Serve On State Advisory Council

AUSTIN

The Senate recently approved the appointment of Milton J. Schiller, vice-president of development for Texas State Technical Institute, to the Advisory Council for Technical-Vocational Education in Texas.

Governor Dolph Briscoe appointed Schiller to the Advisory Council to the State Board of Education. The Senate nominations committee met March 19 and approved the appointment.

The Advisory Council's purpose is to establish a climate conducive to the development of technical, vocational, and manpower training in education institutions in the State of Texas to meet the needs of industrial and economic development of the state.

Schiller, a former state representative and Central Texas businessman, first came to State Tech in 1968 when James Connally Technical Institute was a division of Texas A&M University. He was later named vice-president of development and vice-president of the Rio Grande Campus in 1969. In 1973, Schiller was named, in addition to his vice-president status, as general manager of special programs.

Among his many honors, Schiller received a distinguished service award from the Texas A&M University Extension Service, a special award for outstanding service as president of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce, and a distinguished service award in the Texas Legislature by the Vocational Agriculture Teacher's Association of Texas.

Letters

Dear Mr. Luecke:
In your column NOW of March 15, 1975, in your comparison of Billy Graham and Alexander Solzhenitsen, may we, without appearing to be controversial, speak our peace.

If you will recall, I believe you will remember Mr. Graham constantly affirming that unless the Holy Spirit anointed his lips and gave his utterance to speak and call people to repentance that he was helpless. If it appeared an emotional tempo there is a possibility you misunderstood.

We admire Mr. Solzhenitsen for his suffering in exile and in his book 'Gulag Archipelago', we think the hatred of a man for a man is demonstrated clearly by the way innocent people have been tortured through a totalitarian rule and his resistance to this sort of rule has done more for the cause of freedom than any army could have accomplished. As you say he became too well known for the things he suffered for them to exterminate him, as had happened to so many other of his countrymen, and was refused the privilege of accepting the Nobel Prize in his motherland and was expelled, he is now enjoying freedom.

In the final analysis Mr. Solzhenitsen suffered because he resisted man's inhumanity to man here on this earth, but Mr. Graham is interested in the eternal value of a man's soul. And if we knew the whole story, Mr. Graham has suffered much persecution, but that happens to be the lot of a Christian in this life, but they are supposed to rejoice and be exceedingly glad about it 'for great is their reward in heaven.'

Thank you kindly,
Mrs. W. C. (Don)

Example Set...

It was a first that both recipients of the Alcoa Foundation Scholarship Fund came from one high school, Cameron's Yoe High School.

And it may have been a first for Cameron to receive one of the scholarships.

Whatever, Edward Zotz and Nancy Krall are each $4,000 closer to college educations.

In a time when interest was never higher in Cameron area schools, with 10 candidates running for 2 trustee posts for example, recognition of YHS students is beautifully coincidental.

These youngsters are representative of what is good about the CISD system, despite its physical needs. CISD is doing a lot of things well.

Perhaps this Cen-Tex recognition for two YHS seniors will inspire greater interest and solution to the needs of a district one-third the size of Milam County and obviously headed for better things.

The example is set.

Beyond A Burp...

Mort Walker, creator of Beetle Bailey and onetime cartoonist for Mizzou's "Showme" humor magazine, has done it again.

A recent strip capsules how "pop" cuisine might include a cure for the excesses of too much food mixed together.

Says the waiter to Sgt. Snorkel in a pizzeria: "Here's our Sgt. Snorkel special... a pizza with EVERYTHING!"

Says Beetle, looking at the huge pie a l'italien: "What's that white stuff on top?"

Says Sarge, eating it: "Bicarb."

Brezhnev's Promise For Russian Agriculture Plan Showing Results

MOSCOW

Reuter--Ten years ago this month, Russia's newly-appointed party leader Leonid Brezhnev rose to his feet at a communist party plenum and announced a plan to turn Soviet agriculture upside-down.

The last two years had seen food rationing throughout the country, vicious dust storms in the new and poorly tended grain lands of western Siberia, and a catastrophic harvest failure.

Living standards in the countryside, while incomparably better than in the 1930s under Stalin, were still extremely low, and collective farms suffered a state price system for their produce that often failed even to cover costs.

For the last few years, farmers trying to plan their planting and investment had never quite known what would be demanded of them next, as the blustering party leader Nikita Khrushchev stormed the country enforcing his eccentric ideas on agriculture.

Agriculture, and its gathering stagnation, was a key reason for Khrushchev's fall in 1964. Now, a decade later, Brezhnev set out to put matters straight, the picture looks healthier.

For the last two months, the state-controlled press has been full of lengthy articles hailing the wisdom of the 1965 reforms, which doubled investment in agriculture, improved conditions in the countryside, and introduced fixed long-term production quotas.

Over the last ten years, $276 billion have been poured into farming machinery, fertilizers, and higher prices for produce. That is more than the total investment in farming for the previous 35 years, and now makes up nearly a third of overall Soviet annual capital outlay.

Wages on the collective farms, which in theory are a voluntary and autonomous union of free peasants, have grown faster than in any other branch of the Soviet economy--nearly doubling since 1965.

The price system across the thousands of miles of Soviet agricultural land, stretching through several time and climatic zones, has been revised to ensure that all farms in all regions can make an adequate profit.

In the past year, a massive campaign has been launched to improve yields and output in the large so-called non-black earth areas in the north of European Russia, a densely-populated but largely boggy and forested belt of land swinging down from the Baltic to the south Urals.

The dramatic improvement in the position of Soviet agriculture was described by Brezhnev recently as "one of the greatest and most significant economic and political results of work of the party and its central committee in recent years."

There are still several sectors of farming that have failed to come up to the plan, particularly crops such as sugar beet and sunflowers. But taken together, the current five-year plan, ending this year, is something of a milestone.

It probably will be the first time in the 46-year old history of Soviet planning that the goals will reach be fulfilled.

In grain production, described recently by Agriculture Minister Dmitry Polyanskiy as the key problem of Soviet agriculture, yearly output 15 years ago was little more than half the average annual harvest since 1970.

Even the 1974 harvest, at 168 million tons, often dismissed as a disastrous failure by western experts, was 16 millions tons more than the largest Soviet harvest ever gathered before the 1965 reforms--and on essentially the same acreage.

For 1975, figures released for this month's 10th anniversary of the Brezhnev plenum showed the country hops for more than 215 million tons, which if achieved, will lift the five-year average slightly over the target formulated in 1971.

In other fields of agriculture, which attract less attention than grain, successes have been even more spectacular. Egg production for instance has risen fast, nearly doubling since 1965. And production of amino acids, a vital additive to livestock feed, has soared from 1,100 tons in 1965 to 4,500 tons expected this year.

Altogether, the 10 years since the 1965 plenum have brought the Soviet Union a long way toward its professed goal of self-sufficiency in all food products--and consequently nearer the time the country can think of introducing large-scale food exports.

New TV Series To Show Modern Exploits Of Texan

EL PASO

Reuter--The exploits of a real-life American James Bond--handless private detective Jay Armes of Texas--are to be filmed as a television series with Armes playing himself on the screen.

Equipped with a pair of steel hooks in place of the hands which were blown off at the age of 12 while he was playing with explosives on a construction lot, Armes flies his own plane and helicopter, holds a black belt in judo and is a deadly shot with a gun.

He lives in a 26 room mansion here with a beautiful Asian wife. His house is surrounded by an electrified wire fence and his garden contains a collection of wild animals including leopards, cheetahs, and ostriches.

Armes, 36, drives around in a 60,000 dollar custom built bullet-proof Cadillac, complete with television and an office section.

He and the hundreds of operatives he calls on, travel the world to hunt down kidnappers, expose industrial theft, and collect evidence for divorces and other court cases.

"All the cases we are showing in the television series are from my dossiers," he says. "Only the names will be changed."

Armes' most highly publicized exploit was when he recovered the son of actor Marlon Brando, Christian, 14, in 1972 after the boy had been spirited to a remote Mexican fishing village by his mother, contrary to a court custody ruling.

The Texas private eye says he uses the latest debugging and electronic equipment in industrial espionage cases and once used a tranquilizer gun to stun and disarm kidnappers guarding the five children of a foreign millionaire.

"Some of my exploits seem so unbelievable that you might have thought the writers had invented them," Armes says. "That's why I insisted on playing myself."

His clients include Texas oil and cattle millionaires as well as movie stars. His retainer for taking a job is $25,000.

Armes has had little acting experience but he is full of confidence about the new development in his career. "I'm a natural," he says. "I may not be another Marlon Brando but I will do the job all right."

The Armes series is to be filmed for television later this year by Lorimar Productions of Hollywood which made the popular series "The Waltons."

Lee Rich, president of Lorimar, says the script is now being prepared for the first of the series, a 1 1/2 hour long show to be called "The Investigator."

Armes had both hands amputated two inches above the wrists, while playing with other boys, he had picked up a live cap used by a railroad construction crew and it exploded in his hands.

The doctors told him it would be months before he could have steel artificial hands fitted to his swollen arms. He insisted on having it done at once.

"I went straight back to school and I wrote on the blackboard like the other kids. That started one of my arms bleeding but I went right on writing," he says.

Armes insisted on taking part in all school sports. He trained himself to be proficient in archery, basketball, and athletics. He learned the orienta-marial arts and gradually worked his way up the scale of proficiency in judo until he won his black belt in 1962.

At the age of 18 he obtained his license to fly jet planes and helicopters.

"I was determined I was going to master everything," says Armes, who also swims, scuba dives, and plays tennis. "I can do more with these things than I could with my own hands."

"I take time over everything I do. People who haven't gone through anything like this are rather careless. I think everything I do out carefully beforehand and that has made me more proficient. I'm a perfectionist."

His interest in guns--he learned to fire a .22 caliber rifle while he was still at school--and his fascination with police work drew him into the private detective field.

He practices regularly with a .38 snub-nose revolver in a $250,000 computerized target range he has had built at his home.

Medicare Won't Pay For Acupuncture

"Although acupuncture has been used for thousands of years in China and for decades in parts of Europe," state Pete Wall, district manager of the Temple Social Security Office, "it is a new agent of unknown use and effectiveness in the United States. Even in those areas of the world where it has been widely used, its mechanism is not known."

According to Wall, "until the pending scientific assessment of the technique and its effectiveness is established, Medicare reimbursement for acupuncture may not be."

Sick Pay Exclusion Rules Told By IRS

Taxpayers who retire on disability prior to their employer's mandatory retirement age, can exclude up to $100 a week in disability payments, received in lieu of wages, from their incomes as tax-free sick pay.

IRS Acting District Director Howard C. Longley said that the sick pay exclusion can be claimed only until the taxpayers reach the age at which retirement would have been mandatory, such as 65 years of age.

The State Bar of Texas has announced the expansion of its program to provide legal counsel to indigent parolees at parole revocation hearings. The program will now cover both adult and juvenile offenders.

The project which is funded by a grant from the Criminal Justice Division of the Office of the Governor is one of the series of public service programs recently initiated by the State Bar of Texas. The program has been in operation for adult parolees since June 1974, and now also provides coverage to juvenile parolees.

When there is reason to cause the Board of Pardons and Paroles or Texas Youth Council to consider revoking an individual's parole, an on-site hearing is held at the place where the alleged parole violation or arrest occurred.

If a parolee or a ward of the Texas Youth Council wishes to be represented by a lawyer at his on-site revocation hearing and is unable to pay a lawyer himself, he must make this known to the representative of the Board of Pardons and Paroles or Texas Youth Council who will then notify the State Bar of Texas that there is need for a lawyer to represent an indigent parolee or Texas Youth Council ward at an on-site revocation hearing. A lawyer will then be provided from the area where the hearing is to be held. The lawyer will receive a nominal fee from the State Bar of Texas but most of his time and effort will be donated on a voluntary basis.

H. C. Pittman, Executive Director of the State Bar of Texas stated that recent court decisions have shown that indigent parolees are clearly entitled to legal representation at revocation hearings and that the expansion of this public service program to cover juvenile offenders is a real step toward the assurance of civil rights to all.

For further information, please contact W. C. LaRowe, Director, Counsel for Indigent Parolees, P. O. Box 12487, Austin, TX 78711.

Child Abuse Reports Increasing In State

Reports of suspected child abuse and neglect in Texas have increased 84 percent since a public awareness campaign was launched, State Welfare Commissioner Raymond W. Vowell said today.

The increase was from 1,600 reports in September to 2,951 in January.

Vowell attributed the increase to the State Welfare Department' child abuse prevention campaign, which began in September.

If reports of abuse and neglect continue to increase at this rate, he said, the total for 1975 could reach 36,000.

During 1974, 16,700 reports of suspected child abuse and neglect were made to the Welfare Department. From these reports, almost 10,000 investigations have been completed, involving 25,000 children.

Child abuse or neglect may be reported by anyone at any hour, from anywhere in the state, by dialing a toll-free number: 1-800-292-5400.

At least 44 Texas children died last year - killed by their parents or relatives, or allowed to perish through neglect.

"That's how many we know of," Vowell said. "Many more probably met similar fates, but their deaths were not reported to us as due to abuse or neglect. Often, deaths in such cases are referred directly to law enforcement officials."

Causes of death were bruises, malnutrition, wounds, broken bones, subdural hematoma or hemorrhage, skull fracture, internal injuries, brain damage, lack of supervision, physical and medical neglect, and abandonment.

One of every three confirmed cases in 1974 was for abuse. Two of every three were for neglect. One in 10 involved both abuse and neglect.

Children of all ages, both sexes, all ethnic groups, and from families of all income levels, were victimized.

Half of the abused children were six years or younger. Almost a third were under three.

The mother, or mother figure, was involved in 60 percent of the cases; the father 33 percent.

Thirty percent of the investigated reports could not be proved, but in many of these cases, abuse or neglect was highly suspected.

More than 650 families moved before the abuse or neglect investigation was completed.

Surplus Fruit, Vegetables Should Be Conserved

By Chris Holcombe

Do you grow a surplus of fruits and vegetables? Do you conserve them? They can mean dollars saved.

Fruits that grow wild in this area include dewberries, grapes, and wildplums. They make excellent jelly. Dew-berries can be frozen to use for pies or fruit salads. Or the juice can be used in making jelly.

Other fruits that grow well are strawberries, figs, pears, peaches, watermelon, and cantaloupe.

How can they be conser-ved? Is there anyone who doesn't like strawberry preserves? Figs make excellent preserves as do pears and peaches. Or freeze or can peaches and pears. They will taste just like fresh. Watermelon rind pickles and preserves colored green, red, and yellow are a real conversation piece for any special meal.

Watermelon and cantaloupe balls frozen, give variety to fruit salads—as well as give that needed vitamin C impor-tant to the health of every cell in the body.

How can you learn to con-serve these fruits? Also how about all those delicious ve-getables you are now plant-ing in your garden. Do you know how to conserve them?

Enroll in the mailout ser-vice being offered by the Mil-lam County Extension Ser-vice and learn all about Food Preservation at home.

How do you enroll? Write Chris Holcombe, Milam Coun-ty Extension Agent, P. O. Box 708, Cameron, Texas or call her at 817-697-3382 or drop by the County Extension Office located in the second floor of Citizens National Bank in Cameron. Send in your name and your com-plete mailing address.

Gardening Time Again...

It won't be long until home-owners in Milam County will begin in mass to put in spring gardens in their back-yards or wherever they can find space. To have succes-sful home garden, a number of important factors enter into the picture.

First of all, select a site that is well drained and has fertile soil. Of course, many homeowners have little choice regarding the location of their garden. If possible, the site should receive plenty of sun-light although most leafy crops can be grown in areas receiving partial shade.

Selecting of the proper vegetable variety is a key item to a successful garden. Many home gardeners start off by planting varieties not adapted to this area. The County Extension office has a list of recommended var-ieties for Milam County.

Proper soil preparation is another important key for a good garden. A tight, heavy clay soil can be im-proved by adding from one to two inches of sand and two to three inches of organic matter. Till these items into the garden area prior to planting.

In absence of a soil test, apply a complete fertilizer such as 10-10-10 at the rate of two to three pounds per hundred square feet of gar-den area. Work the ferti-lizer into the soil and then form the beds for planting.

Most soil insects attack either the seed at planting time or small tender plants. These insects include wire-worms, hutworms, white grubs, mole crickets, and various maggots or fly lar-vae.

To control soil insects apply the pesticide Diazinon two to four weeks prior to planting. For 1,000 square feet of surface area, use three-fourths cup of 25 per-cent emulsion concentrate or one-half cup of 50 per-cent wettable powder in two-and-a-half to three gallons of water. Apply the insect-icide to the soil surface and mix it thoroughly into the soil to a depth of 4-6 inches. Before applying the pesticide, be sure to read the label and follow all in-structions.

Lions Camp Open For Handicapped

Applications for a sum-mer vacation full of fun for handicapped children in the Cameron area are now being accepted by members of the Cameron Noon Lions Club.

This unique Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville will open its first two-weeks session Sun-day, June 1. Four sessions will be held this summer for youngsters from seven through sixteen years of age.

The Camp is free to eli-gible blind, deaf, mute, or crippled children. All re-quests for summer camp are handled locally by Lions.

For more detailed infor-mation about the Camp, you are urged to contact Monroe Fuchs of the Cameron Noon Lions Club business phone 697-6677, residence phone 697-2326.

In past years, Lions have sent over 15,000 youngsters to the Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children at Kerr-ville.

Winning Ways With Wool

TIPS TO HELP YOU MAKE A BETTER BUY

How can you sew up your place in the fashion scene without spending a small for-tune? If you know how to sew you can often save 50% or more by making your own clothes.

Since you can save so much by doing the labor yourself, you can afford to use quality fabrics you may not be able to afford in ready-made gar-ments. The cost can often be just two or three dollars more per garment to get a much finer fabric.

Most wool fabrics come in 54" to 60" widths—so you get more fabric for your money. And wool is easy to work with—it lies flat, drapes well and eases well to give better contour and fit. And some Woolmark and Woolblend Mark fabrics are washable for easy care. Here are some tips to give a profes-sional look to your projects.

1. Show your individuality by choosing the fabric and style that says "you." Wool fabrics come in a myriad of colors, patterns and prints and a weight that's right for every season and every climate.

2. If your fabric is wash-able, make sure you use wash-able linings and findings.

3. If you use a napped fabric, be sure the pattern pieces are all placed in the same direction.

4. And of course, be sure to match plaids and stripes at seams.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

Squirrel "shooting" is lots of fun — with a camera.

These elusive little nut-gatherers are quite a challenge. They are so agile and so fidgety that they are most difficult to photograph. By the time you have focused your camera on one, he is off and running. As soon as he spies you, he dashes for the nearest tree. He's first on one side, then the other, or on a branch.

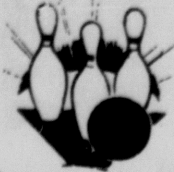

Have your camera ready to shoot—and you've fooled him. But when he hears the shutter click he's off again.

You can usually tempt them to remain long enough to picture by scattering a few pecans around the area. Usually he will hurry away to bury the good ones as fast as he can. However, if there are many pecans close by he will stay until he gets his mouth full. If he's still too fast for you, try cracking a few of the pecans. A squirrel will not bury a cracked nut, but will eat it on the spot. And that's a good picture!

It's a great sport to photograph wildlife in their natural habitat. But for the larger animals, such as the deer, it takes a little more technique—and quite a bit more time. They are not easy to fool, even with bait.

Yoe Scores Over Sealy

The Cameron Yoemen baseball team started out with a four-run first inning and parlayed it into a 5-2 win over Sealy at LaGrange Thursday to advance to second round competition of the LaGrange tournament.

Kopriva led off in that first inning outburst with a single, and Randy Sapp followed him with a walk. Ricky Kelley stepped up for a single of his own that brought in Kopriva and left two on.

Gary Hornung's single scored Sapp and Kelley, and Joey Mondrik belted another single to score Hornung.

The Yoemen will play LaGrange Friday afternoon.

Alive And Well

There's one number the American Cancer Society just loves—1,500,000. That's the number of Americans alive today who are cured of cancer. And, their ranks could be even greater, says the Society, if everyone understood the importance of an annual physical checkup including cancer tests.

Yoemen Second In Card Relays

Cameron's mile relay team captured a first place victory to earn the Yoemen second place finish in the Cardinal Relays at Columbus Thursday.

Brenham won the meet with 70 points while Yoe tallied 60 points during the windy meet.

The Yoemen had a time of 3:30.6 for its victory. The splits were Jafus White 53.9; Willie Bell, 51.9; Stan-Manners 53.6; and Mike White 51.3.

Cameron grabbed three second place wins as Joe Smitherman sailed the discus 140-3 1/2, Pedro Canizales ran a 4:48.2 mile and the 440-yard relay team dashed to a 43.8 clocking.

The sprint relay squad is composed of Mike White, Robert Miller, Greg Kelley, and Willie Bell. The time was one-tenth of a second off the school mark.

Harry Brooks captured a fourth place ribbon in the shot put with a toss of 49-5. Bell leaped 20-3 to earn fifth in the long jump and Miller clocked a 23.4 for fifth in the 220-yard dash.

In the junior varsity division, Joseph Schmidt earned a second in the pole vault, the mile relay team took third, and David Delony captured sixth in the intermediate hurdles. The relay team includes Brian Wilkinson, Bill Hughes, Craig White, and Kenneth Scott.

Cougars Grab 6-3 Victory

The Rosebud-Lott Cougars took advantage of several Belton miscues to grab a 6-3 victory in baseball action at Belton Thursday.

Belton's Tigers jumped out in front 1-0 in the bottom half of the second inning, but the Cougars tallied twice in the third and four times in the fourth to put the contest out of reach.

The Rosebud-Lott junior varsity also captured a win as the Cougars downed Belton 8-3 in an early afternoon clash.

Pro Track Star Helps Tennis Players To Move

NEW YORK Reuter--He hasn't won any major tennis tournaments, but a 26-year old professional track star is one of the hottest figures on the circuit.

rent international tennis circuit.

Indeed, to Arthur Ashe, Stan Smith, Roscoe Tanner, and a number of other stars, Henry Hines is as valuable to them as the teaching pros they seek out when they're having trouble with their games.

Hines, a long-jumper on the International Track Association (ITA) tour, has become a tennis guru of sorts, teaching many of the world's leading players how to develop quickness and better mobility on the court.

Apparently Hines' novel methods work. Ashe, who is playing better than ever, credits the University of Southern California graduate with much of his improved play. And the others all say that Hines, winner of 16 of 17 ITA long-jump events last year, has helped them immensely.

Now Hines is planning on turning much of his attention to John Newcombe.

"John wants me to work with him before his match with Jimmy Connors," Hines said, "and I know I can help him a lot, maybe even make the difference between whether he wins or loses."

Hines began to work with Ashe, Tanner, and a few other pros, developing a special training program which he felt would improve their physical capabilities. The program produced noticeable results and the word soon got around.

"One of the first things I discovered was that most players don't know how to move properly," he said. "By that I mean they don't know how to take advantage of their mobility, quickness, and balance."

"Newcombe, for example, is a great player but he doesn't really move all that well. I've talked to him about it and he's convinced I can help him."

Hines, who has made a science of balance and speed, said: "I've broken it down with phases and applied dynamics and the principles of running with tennis."

Hine, who has jumped 27 feet 1 inch indoors, employs a series of 20 different exercises and drills, all designed especially for tennis.

Basically, Hines said, his problem is designed to improve six areas: flexibility, quickness, balance, recovery, body control, and positioning on court. The exercises are broken down into two sets, general workout and pre-competition.

Support Urged For Easter Seal Appeal

A further request for sup-port of the Easter Seal Soci-ety for Crippled Children and Adults and its program of services to the handi-capped was issued today by E. J. Manning, who is the Easter Seal Representative in Milam County.

The Easter Seal Society provided treatment and ser-vices for 20,152 physically handicapped children and ad-ults in Texas last year, and this program needs to be ex-panded. Many people are going without services that would increase the produc-tiveness of their lives and make them happier. Increas-ed public support of the Easter Seal Society will en-able more and more of these people to be reached.
